

Harrington.

PROCLAMATION OF 6TH MARCH, 1841.

Harrington is bounded on the north by Arundel and Montcalm, east by Wentworth, south by Grenville and Augmentation of Grenville, and west by Ponsonby.

A mountain range, passing through the Township from north to south, divides West, or what is usually called Old Harrington, from the part which has been more recently settled, and though the land in the west is somewhat broken, it is mostly free from stone, and is divided into many fine farms. In the western part also, the River Rouge passes through the Township from north to south. This Township is divided into two School Municipalities, designated as No. 1 and No. 2; the School Board of the former meets at No. 1 School house at Lost River.

The Municipal Councillors at Harrington are: Jos. Milway (Mayor), John Fraser, Peter McCrimmon, William Morgan, David Green, Henry Morrison and Donald Dewar.

Presbyterians, of whom there are a good many, have held service here many years. There had been much talk and a strong desire in this body to build a church edifice here; but owing to their inability to agree on a location, they divided into two factions, and in 1893 each one erected a church building. Unable, however, to maintain two pastors, one of these buildings is now occupied by the Methodists, who hold service in it regularly.

A cheese factory has lately been built here, which is patronized by all the farmers of this section.

The first settlers of this Township were MURDOCH McCRAE, DUGALD CAMPBELL and WILLIAM CAMPBELL. They had not been here long, however, before the settlers named below followed.

ANDREW FRASER came from Inverness-shire, Scotland, and first settled at Caledonia, Ont., then at Lost River, Harrington, on the farm now owned by John McMillan. He had four sons and five daughters who came with him to Canada; the sons bought 500 acres of land at Lost River, and on this they and the father settled.

Alexander, one of the sons, worked on the Ottawa a few years, and, about 1854, bought 100 acres of land in West Harrington, on which he now lives. There had been but five acres cleared at the time, but he has since cleared the whole of it, and bought fifty acres more of woodland in Grenville. He has been a Municipal Councillor, and is a staunch member of the Presbyterian Church. Soon after buying his farm in Harrington he married Christie, daughter of Dugald Campbell. Seven of their children—five daughters and two sons—are now living. Three of the former are married; one lives in Montreal, and two in this County. John, the eldest son, who now has charge of the homestead, was married, in January, 1892, to Jennie McLean.

JOHN SHAW, from the Isle of Skye, Scotland, came to Canada in 1832, and died the same year, in Ontario, from cholera. His wife, not knowing of his death, with
